To whom it may concern:

Hunger at Home has been a godsend to Martha's Kitchen. In such a short time it has mobilized the different organizations and got us all talking to each other. As a result, homeless shelters are getting surplus linens and blankets from hotels, Martha's Kitchen and Salvation Army have received hundreds of thousands worth of meals from San Jose Convention Center, Levi Stadium, etc. It has also donated time and material at our Celebrity Chef and Star Chefs events. We have a very strong relationship with Hunger at Home that will get even stronger in years to come. Together we will become more effective in serving the community.

Very truly yours,

Edita Cruz
